Fiend Knapp Talks About His Crimes And Describes His Actions

His New Wife Would Soon Have Met Fate of the Others

Officers Questioned the Murderer Again This Morning And to Reporters He Illustrated How He Choked The Life Out of His Victims.

Hamilton, O., Feb. 27.—“Had you not been arrested would you have killed the wife whom you now have in Indianapolis?” was today asked Alfred Knapp the confessed murderer of five people.

“That is hard to tell,” was the remarkable answer of the prisoner, whose story of crime has shocked the country, and whose personality affords a criminological study of great depth. He continued:

“I know that she has woke up several times since we were married and found my hands on her neck when I was asleep. She would wake when I grabbed her and wake me and ask me what I meant by taking hold of her neck that way, and I could not tell her why, because I was asleep and did not know I had done it. Just last week she woke up just in time or she might never have woke at all. I had grabbed her so tight and was choking her so that she was near gone when she came to and woke me up. I can’t see what makes me do that, can you?” he asked.

Knapp was asked just how he strangled his victims. He not only told how he killed them, but he acted it and when he did, his face took on a look of fiendishness that it is hard to conceive. His fingers drew up with tension and looked like the talons of a bird of prey. His face drew itself up into hard lines, his eyes drooped, toward the nose and his nostrils were dilated and puffed long, hissing gusts of breath. His whole body became rigid and then Knapp was ready to tell how he killed his people.

“I always kill from behind,” he said from between his closed teeth. “I get them in front of me. Then I clutch them by the throat, placing my knee on the back and bend them over. They struggle, but not long. They look into my face, but they find no mercy there.

“I kill them and that is all. How do I know when they are dead? I listen to the heart and if that is done beating then I am done. No, none of them ever pleaded for mercy. They could not and it would have been no use. I could not have stopped until they were dead. No, I cannot tell any one why I killed them. There was something behind me pushing me on, and I could not resist that feeling. It pushed me on and I killed. Yes, I felt good after it was over. It was quickly done. When the body fell limp from me, my first thought was to dispose of the body.”

Mayor Bosch, Director of Police Maccon and Captain of Police Lenehan questioned Knapp in jail again this morning about the holdup of Mrs. Feldmann, on December 20, a few days before the murder of his third wife. He said he had nothing to do with the street robberies which occurred later. He said also that his wife, Hannah, held Mary Eckart’s head while he strangled her in Cincinnati. It was not on July 24, as stated by the police of Cincinnati, he said, but on August 1. On August 7, he again declared, he killed Jennie Connor, his second wife. Knapp is positive about this and says that he had trouble with three women about this time.

Every energy is now being bent by the officials to find the body of Hannah Goddard and clinch the local murder case against Alfred A. Knapp, who has confessed to strangling three women and two little girls. The recovery of the body will establish the death of the woman. Circumstantial evidence outside of Knapp’s monstrous confession will insure his conviction. All efforts to find the body have been in vain. The box in which it was cast into the Miami river at the “snicker hole” may by this time be far down the Mississippi river. The time from last December 22, to the present date, together with plenty of high water, must have served to bring the box out of the depths and carry it to the Ohio river and perhaps to the Mississippi.

KNAPP COULDN'T RESIST

The Impulse to Kill—Says He Felt no Remorse But a Satisfaction After the Murders Were Committed.

Hamilton, O., Feb. 27.—Alfred Knapp the self confessed murderer, made another long statement last night at the jail. He adhered to his written confession and added some points. Of these the most important relates to the fate of his first wife, Emma Stubb, whose fate had been overlooked. Knapp declares that she is still alive and is now in Louisville, Ky. He says that she got a divorce from him. Another chapter was added to Knapp’s list of confessions when he asserted that he was implicated in several kidnappings here last December. Knapp was asked why he committed his various crimes and how he felt when he was choking a woman to death.

And Stamps Stolen at Garrett

Experts Opened Safe at Postoffice

A MICHIGAN BANK WAS ALSO ROBBED OF $5000.

BOTH GANGS USED DYNAMITE.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 27.—The postoffice at Garrett, Ind., was robbed some time during the night of $1,000 in money and $300 in stamps. The father of Miss Amanda Sullivan, the postmistress, made the discovery when he opened up the office this morning. The combination had been chiselled off and the safe blown with dynamite. It was the work of experts. The largest part of the money belonged to citizens who had deposited it for safe-keeping.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 27.—Hubbard’s bank at Cedar Springs, 22 miles north of here, was looted by burglars last night, nearly $5,000 being taken. Dynamite was used, wrecking the vault. Two men stole a delivery rig of Miller and Son and escaped to Grand Rapids.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 27.—A terrific rain fall last night partly submerged San Antonio. The San Antonio river is out of its banks and basements in the business portion of the city are flooded. The loss in the city and vicinity not including the damage done to railroads is placed at $50,000. Many houses along the river were swept away. There was no loss of life, but scores of persons had narrow escapes. St. Mary’s street is under six feet of water. Traffic throughout the city is demoralized.

UNCLAIMED

Bodies in Indiana May Now be Sold to Medical Schools for the Price of Shipment.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—Governor Durban has signed the bill giving unclaimed bodies to medical colleges for dissection upon the payment of the expenses of shipment. The report that the bill repealed the law under which the alleged grave robbers in this city have been indicted and that they would be released without trial was circulated, but it developed that the fear was groundless.

Clark, the Montana upper king, who while enroute to the railway station last evening, in one of his carriages, was run against by a street car, and narrowly escaped with his life. The carriage was still serviceable and he proceeded to the station where Senator took a train for New York.

Value of Vaccination is Fully Demonstrated in These Cases Near Zanesville (Ohio).

Zanesville, O., Feb. 27.—The value of vaccination as a preventative in cases of small pox even after the subject who, before being vaccinated had been exposed has been thoroughly demonstrated in a number of cases in the county recently.

The cases referred to were in the family of Ham Starks of Springfield township. It will be remembered that several weeks ago Mr. Starks developed a case of smallpox and Dr. Gee was called, as soon as the case had developed sufficiently for a correct diagnosis the physicians vaccinated the eight members of the family.

Of the eight who were vaccinated six “took” and two did not. The result was that the six who were successfully vaccinated developed only very light cases of varioloid, so light in fact that they will not be marked.

The two whose vaccinations were not successful suffered severe conuict forms of smallpox. Their ages were 20 and 5 years respectively.

TIED HIS MAN

To a Telegraph Pole and the Railroad Detective Narrowly Escaped a Mob.

Lima, O., Feb. 27.—G. R. Wissinger, special detective for the Detroit Southern railway, with headquarters in Springfield, narrowly escaped being mobbed by residents of the East End between 11 and 12 o’clock last night. Wissinger was sent here to watch for coal thieves, and arrested John Crow, a laborer, later returning to the yards, where he picked up C. O. Coleman, who had taken a half bushel of coal. Instead of bringing Coleman to the station he tied the man to a telegraph pole, handcuffing him so that his arms, being short, just barely encircled the pole.

Here Coleman stood for over two hours, shoopt in water, until passers-by were attracted by his cries. Word was sent the police station and three officers sent out. Wissinger was hunted for and finally located hiding in a barn, when citizens broke out and threatened tar and feathers. Wissinger insulted the officers, who started to protect him, and was himself arrested, charged with a violation of the humane laws of the state. He was thrown in jail, together with Coleman, pleaded not guilty to the charge and threatens the city authorities with prosecution from the railroad.

Coleman, through his exposure, has his arms badly lacerated, from which the blood ran profusely, and he required the assistance of physicians. The entire East End of the city was stirred up and but for the timely interference of the city authorities Wissinger would probably have suffered severe punishment, if not lynching.

Stalled in Snow.

St. Johns N. F., Feb. 27.—One of the blocked trains is moving towards the city and will probably reach here today or Saturday. The other snow bound train has not yet been moved. Twenty of the latter’s passengers left the train and traveled across thirty miles of unbroken snow sheds, carrying food on knapsacks on their shoulders and guiding themselves by the telegraph poles. They reached an open section of the line on this side of the country this morning and are expected to reach here in a few days the track not admitting of faster progress. The train itself will probably be detained in the snow drifts another week.

Calls For Help From Several Victims of the Fire at Lowell, Mass., This Morning.

One Body Has Been Recovered From The Ruins

Six People Are Now in the Hospital Suffering From Their Injuries--Loss $125,000--Origin of the Blaze Is Yet Unknown.

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 27.—The Burbank building in Prescott street, owned by H. B. Shattuck & Son, was this morning destroyed by fire. It is believed several bodies will be found in the ruins. The whole fire department was called out. The building was located in the heart of the mercantile district and was five stories high. The ground floor is occupied by four stores and about 75 lodgers occupied the third and fourth stories.

The following persons were burned and injured and are in the hospital: Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Labelle. Miss Margaret Labelle. Michael Labelle. Miss Hattie Hills. Robert Chase.

The loss will reach $125,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The flames spread rapidly and as they made their way through the structure faces appeared at the windows and there were frantic appeals for help. Men and women almost naked were taken out and down ladders by the firemen. The ruins are now being searched.

One body has just been recovered. It has been identified as Sarah Kitttridge, a book agent. She was burned to a crisp, and was found in her room, having had no time to escape. Several people are not yet accounted for and the search in the ruins continues. It is believed that the body of Helen Ward, aged 38 years, is in the ruins. She had a room in the rear part of the burned building. It is now thought all the remaining occupants are safe.

RYAN WINS A POINT

Application of Investors for a Receiver Has Been Denied as They Have No Standing in Court as Creditors.

St. Louis, Feb. 27.—Attorney W. D. Coles, referee in the bankruptcy proceedings instituted before Judge Adams in the United States District Court against John J. Ryan and C. W. Deppler, Thursday denied the application of the petitioning creditors, W. W. Gardiner, Rebecca D. Ackerman and Herbert J. Plumer for the appointment of a receiver pending the adjudication of the John J. Ryan Investment Company’s affairs.

Ryan and Deppler filed an answer stating that the plaintiffs were fellow partners in a scheme to gamble on horse races and, as such, were not entitled to relief as creditors. The referee held that the petitioners had no standing in court and sustained the claim of the defendants that the shareholders in the Ryan Investment Company were equal partners.

In their answer Ryan and Deppler further set forth that if the shareholders are not partners, and have received from the firm 5 per cent a week they are usurers and are guilty under the criminal statutes; or, if the petitioners are not partners in a gambling enterprise, but have loaned their money to Ryan to be used for gambling purposes they have no standing in court and are not entitled to enforce any claim in bankruptcy. In the answer Ryan and Deppler deny that any of the funds of the concern are being foolishly jeopardized, but declare that Ryan is carefully husbanding every resource to re-establish his turf co-operative scheme on a sounder basis than ever. The defendant contended that the appointment of a receiver would not conduce to the best interests of the same or to its creditors.

Very Sudden Death of Inventor Gatling Gun.

New York, Feb. 27.—Dr. Gatling, the inventor of the gatling gun, died very suddenly in the arms of his daughter, Mrs. Hugh O. Pentecost. At 1:15 o’clock Dr. Gatling returned home from a trip down town on business at the offices of the Scientific American. Being 84 years old and accustomed to resume after any physical effort, he told his daughter he would be down in a few minutes.

Shortly afterward he commenced to breathe heavily and a physician was summoned and he administered strichnine but to no avail and Dr. Gatling died in his daughter’s arms a few minutes afterwards. Dr. Gatling besides the gun which bears his name, invented a number of agricultural implements and a gun metal. Although he graduated from Ohio Medical college he never practiced medicine.

Notice to the Public

We, the undersigned, Retail Dealers in Groceries and Provisions, will on and after March 2, 1903, cease the giving of Trading Stamps with all purchases. We do not consider it wisdom to offer the public a so-called premium to buy the necessities of life. We prefer to give you better goods at a less price by not having the extra expense of 5 per cent which the Trading Stamps cost the dealer and the consumer who pays for all only gets about 1 per cent of that amount in some second or third class article called Premium. We want to be fair and honest with the public and with each other, and we earnestly request the good citizens of the city and county not to ask for any more Trading Stamps after the above date, and by so doing you will save this middle-man's profit of 5 per cent which belongs to you.

KIND WORDS

Regarding Dr. Daniel Shephardson, the Wheel Chair Evangelist, Whose Reputation is National.

"Despite the handicap of having to speak from a wheel chair, having been stricken with paralysis some time ago, Dr. Daniel Shephardson is conducting a series of revival meetings in Spokane, Washington. Dr. Shephardson is of the Baptist persuasion. His meetings are attended by large crowds every afternoon and evening."

The above appears in the Chicago Chronicle, and is of more than ordinary interest to the people of this section of Ohio. Rev. Daniel Shephardson is a native of Granville, Ohio, a son of the founder of Shephardson college for women, one of the leading educational institutions of the State. Mrs. Shephardson is a former Newark girl, who graduated from the musical department of Granville Female College at about the time her husband received his diploma from Denison university. Rev. Mr. Shephardson is known from coast to coast as the wheel chair evangelist. He is an eloquent and scholarly orator and attracts large audiences in all cities that he visits. He is accompanied in his travels by Mrs. Shephardson, who takes charge of the musical program at all meetings.—Zanesville Signal.

BISHOP'S SON

Threatens Dynamite Unless He Can See His Dying Father Formerly of Ohio.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Charles Merrill, son of Bishop Stephen M. Merrill of the M. E. church, who is locked up in his room in the Washingtonian Hotel for inebriates, pleads and threatens with his keepers to release him so that he can go to see his father, who is seriously ill from pneumonia at one of the hospitals.

He threatens if he is not let out before his father dies he will return and blow up the Home with dynamite. Young Merrill is a slave to drink and he recently drove his father and mother from their home to the hospital by invading their rooms while drunk. At Wesley Hospital it is said that the aged Bishop is ill in a precarious condition.

Bishop Merrill is well known to a number of Newark people. Years ago he was stationed at Worthington, O.

Mansfield—Clyde Harp, aged 12 was shot and killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of his 16 year old brother, George.

Urbana—Harry Ladue, wanted by officials here to answer to a felony, was found to be confined in the Michigan state penitentiary at Jackson, Mich., where he is now doing time for a similar offense.

FACTIONS

Fight Bitterly in Williamstown Over Monument Planned for Founders of the Village.

Marietta, O., Feb. 27.—The village of Williamstown, across the river from here, is divided against itself over an action taken by the Williamstown Historical society last night.

By receptions, entertainments, &c., a fund had been raised to erect a monument to the memory of Isaac and Rebecca Williams, founders of the village. At a meeting a motion to use half this fund for monuments to Joseph and Samuel Tomlinson was carried after a fight which grew bitter, and which, it is asserted by the minority, is not ended.

The Williamses were settled at Williamstown when the first settlement was made in Ohio. They had good crops, and when the Ohio pioneers were suffering from scarcity of food the Williamses refused to accept high prices for corn from speculators and divided with their new neighbors. For this reason the fund was contributed to largely by Ohio people. Their graves are now in a barnyard unmarked.

Gen. King's New Book.

General Charles King's latest novel "A Daughter of the Sioux," a tale of the Indian frontier, with illustrations by Frederic Remington and Edward W. Deming, is to be published March 15, by the Hobart company, New York City. It is now several years since General King has written a book based on the stirring scenes of the far western plains among which he passed so many years of his active military life. The new book will no doubt meet with great success everywhere.

McKinley Memorial.

In a few days a number of persons who were friends and admirers of President McKinley will call on the people of Newark for the sale of the memorial certificates, and as the price is only $1 it is hoped that the people of Newark will take hold of the matter, as it is desirable that Newark be not behind other cities.

THINK IT OVER.

Something You Can See in Any Restaurant or Cafe.

A physician puts the query: Have you never noticed in any large restaurant at lunch or dinner time the large number of hearty, vigorous old men at the tables; men whose ages run from 60 to 80 years; many of them bald and all perhaps gray, but none of them feeble and senile.

Perhaps the spectacle is so common as to have escaped your observation or comment, but nevertheless it is an object lesson which means something. If you will notice what these hearty old fellows are eating you will observe that they are not munching bran crackers nor gingerly picking their way through a menu card of new fangled health foods; on the contrary they seem to prefer a juicy roast of beef, a properly turned loin of mutton, and even the deadly broiled lobster is not altogether ignored.

The point of all this is that a vigorous old age depends upon good digestion and plenty of wholesome food and not upon dieting and an endeavor to live upon bran crackers. There is a certain class of food cranks who seem to believe that meat, coffee, and many other good things are rank poisons, but these cadaverous, sickly looking individuals are a walking condemnation of their own theories.

The matter in a nutshell is that if the stomach secretes the natural digestive juices in sufficient quantity any wholesome food will be properly digested; if the stomach does not do so, and certain foods cause distress one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal will remove all difficulty because they supply just what every weak stomach lacks, pepsin, hydro-chloric acid, diastase and rux.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not act upon the bowels and in fact are not strictly a medicine, as they act almost entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it thoroughly and thus giving a much needed rest and giving an appetite for the next meal.

Of people who travel nine out of ten use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets knowing them to be perfectly safe to use at any time and also having found out by experience that they are a safeguard against indigestion in any form, and eating as they have to, at all hours and all kinds of food, the traveling public for years have pinned their faith to Stuart's Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50c for full sized packages and any druggist from Maine to California, if his opinion were asked, will say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the most popular and successful remedy for any stomach trouble. Feb. 18-26-27

Dr. A. W. Chase Nerve Pills

ANERVE TONIC NEVER EQUALED

THIS SHAPED BOX—NO OTHER

Mrs. William Spencer of No. 105 Granger St., Syracuse, N. Y., says: "I was always nervous, but of late years I could not sleep, was intensely nervous, ringing sounds in the ears and sharp noises in my head at night. My strength was away down and I was very dizzy and had to catch hold of something until it passed off. This condition certainly needed attention as it was growing steadily worse. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills were called to my attention and I got a box. The results were splendid—the nerves became quiet—the noises and ringing in the head, together with the dizzy spells, disappeared completely and I began to sleep well again. The general strength came back and as a result I feel very well every day again. I am only too pleased to be able to say this."

Mrs. Randolph Knutti of No. 59 Penn St., Salem, Ohio, says: "Day times I was always nervous—children's noises and little things upset and worried me. As a consequence I felt depressed and debilitated. I was told of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and got some and they acted finely. They made my nerves steady and strong and gave a splendid feeling of general strength and vigor. I don't worry or bother now about small things any more, and am very grateful for the change. As a nerve and general tonic I consider the medicine has no equal."

RAILROAD AFFAIRS OF THE DAY.

TO IMPROVE B. & O. ROAD

Twenty Millions to be Spent—Official Statement Made—Purposes of the Betterment Explained.

Baltimore, Feb. 27.—A statement has been issued from the office of General Manager George L. Potter of Baltimore and Ohio that the company will start and complete a vast amount of important work in betterment during the spring, which will involve an expenditure of $20,000,000. The statement says that "Some of the most important work under way is between Cumberland and Chicago Junction, via Connellsville and Pittsburgh, and the improvements, which are being made as rapidly as conditions allow, are for two purposes. "One is to complete the low grade line between the Eastern seaboard and Chicago, and with a railroad with less than a five-tenths maximum, except at a point or two where helpers will be used, will be the result of this effort. In doing this work and caring for the through business the management is keeping in mind more rapid outlet for the tonnage of the great Pittsburgh district.

"If the Baltimore and Ohio railroad today could handle all the business offered it in the Pittsburgh district, it would increase its earnings fully 20 per cent, and the property is now earning, including all leased and owned lines, over $60,000,000 a year. By the middle of next summer the entire line from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia will be double tracked with greatly reduced grades and an improved alignment that eliminated hundreds of degrees of curvature.

"In and about Pittsburgh proper surveys have been made for many important additions to the present facilities, and estimates are being made with a view of starting work early in the summer. If the contemplated improvements can be carried out, the facilities in Pittsburgh will be greatly augmented. West of Pittsburgh a vast deal of important work is in immediate contemplation.

"The traffic, both freight and passenger between Versailles and Pittsburgh—18 miles—has become so heavy as to not only justify, but require the construction of two additional running tracks, making a four-track line to Glenwood, a suburb of Pittsburgh, and the general yard where freight is handled.

"Between Pittsburgh and New Castle Junction the line is double-tracked, but, as it follows small and tortuous streams, is crooked and hard to operate. Plans have been prepared for a new line with but very few curves and low grades between Allegheny and Ellwood City, and it is quite likely work will begin in the early summer, the cost being estimated at about $1,000,000."

PROJECTION

Struck Target Pole Knocking it Down and Slightly Injuring Andrew Hiatt.

Some time during Thursday night a passing freight train did considerable damage to the train shed, north of the B. & O. depot, and Andrew Hiatt was slightly injured.

The train was pulling into the yards from the north, and something loaded on one of the cars, projecting over the side, caught the eaves of the roof of the east side of the shed and badly tore it up.

Going on to the Pan Handle cross-over, it struck a target pole knocking it down on the watch shanty.

Andrew Hiatt who was in the shanty was struck by the target pole and slightly bruised, but no bones were broken. The damage will amount to probably $50.

FRISCO SOLD

Confirmation of the Big Deal is Obtained—Local and General News of a Day.

New York, Feb. 27.—Absolute confirmation is obtained in Wall street of the announcement of the purchase of the St. Louis and San Francisco Road by the Rock Island. At the office of J. P. Morgan & Company it was stated that the matter would not be discussed, but that a statement giving the details of the transaction would be given out after the close of business.

This expectation was not realized, as Mr. Perkins, of the firm, who has the matter in hand, stated late in the day that the official announcement would be deferred for the present. The price paid for the majority of the common stock, which carried with it the control of the property, is a matter of conjecture. It is known as a fact that a few thousand additional shares needed to give Mr. Morgan control before turning it over to the Rock Island were acquired at $34 per share. This cash will go to St. Louis capitalists. In completing the financing of the purchase rather different terms will be made, as the transaction then becomes one between insiders.

The best information obtainable on this score is that for each share of St. Louis and San Francisco common stock at par value of $100 there will be paid $20 in cash, $45 in one-half-per-cent. bonds and $55 in new Rock Island preferred stock. This is equal to $105.

It is estimated that the bonds to be issued will ultimately sell for at least 90, which, with the Rock Island at the present price, will make it slightly more than par for the purchased shares. Of course, in order to get this price, the holder will be compelled to remain in an underwriting syndicate until the new securities are marketed. Therefore the cash price of $4 can really be accepted as the actual price at which control changed hands.

Foreman Evans Resigns.

Edward E. Evans who has been for a long time foreman of the B. & O. round house, at Newark, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on March 1. He does not know as yet, what he will engage in, nor who will be his successor.

B. & O. GETS IT.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 27.—The B. & O. and Wabash Railroad companies have looked horns in Zanesville. About a month ago agents of the Wabash company secured options on all property facing Linden avenue for six squares north of the Eighth Ward prong of the "Y" bridge and for a block or more deep. It was then announced that this vast territory was to be used by the Wabash for yard and shop purposes. But in securing all these property options the agents of the Wabash overlooked a strip of land owned by J. N. Harris, which faces the river at exactly the same place where the Wabash bridge abutment over the Licking would rest. This property has just been sold to the B. & O. company, it being the only gate to the Eighth ward which the B. & O. didn't own. It is now beyond the reach of the Wabash.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

As Baltimore and Ohio train No. 106, a double header, drawn by engines 879 and 751, with Engineers Helm and Floyd at the throttles, and Conductor Butterworth in charge of the train, was going east on Thursday night, two cars that were on the front end of the train jumped the track, and delayed traffic for two hours. The wreck train was sent back from this city and placed the cars on the track.

General Railway Notes.

Arrangements are under way on the part of a number of the trunk lines to put into operation the interchangeable mileage bureau as recommended by the special committee of the Trunk Line Passenger Committee.

David A. Geraty has been promoted to General Manager of the Central New England, a newly-created position, and W. H. Seely succeeds him as General Freight and Passenger Agent.

Despite all efforts to facilitate business the best managed roads in the West find it impossible to keep up with traffic demands, and are 1,000 to 2,000 cars short on their daily riders.

The Senate has passed the bill granting the Central Arizona Railway Company a right of way through the San Francisco Mountains forest reserve in Arizona.

The members of the Southwestern Passenger Bureau that gave notice of their withdrawal from the bureau, to take effect January 31st, have postponed the date until February 28th. Efforts to reorganize the bureau have so far proved unsuccessful.

A bill has been introduced into the Texas Legislature proposing to fix passenger rates in the State at 2 cents a mile.

State railroad commissions with rate making powers are now being advocated, and likewise opposed, in the Legislature of Washington, Utah, West Virginia and Alabama, which at present have no appointive commissions with advisory authority.

Among other tests of railway equipment during the coming spring, will be one of a Baltimore & Ohio locomotive upon the Royal Blue limited train between Philadelphia and Washington.

At the close of the half-yearly meeting of the Directors of Canadian Pacific on Tuesday, it was announced that the gross earnings for the year had been more than $42,000,000, while the land sales had been over 2,000,000 acres, or double those of last year.

The Norfolk and Western is preparing to put into operation a pension system which will effect all of the 17,000 employees of the company.

The Senate has passed the Elkins bill to amend the Interstate Commerce law by forbidding secret discrimination in rates or rebates by common carriers, and making both the giver and receiver of such discrimination liable to heavy fines.

It is authoritatively announced that the Southern railway has acquired the New Orleans and Northeastern railway, which runs from Meridian, Miss., to New Orleans, La., a distance of 198 miles.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also evidence of kidney trouble; a convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

JESTS OF SENATORS

Incidents of the Lighter Side of Life in the Senate from the Century. March Number.

From Francis E. Leupp's "Humors of Congress" in March Century.

John C. Calhoun, when Vice-President, did not believe that, as the presiding officer of the Senate, he had any right to call Senators to order for words spoken in debate. John Randolph of Roanoke abused this license by opening a speech with the words: "Mr. Speaker—I mean, Mr. President of the Senate, and would-be President of the United States—which God, in his infinite mercy, avert!" and then launched into one of his characteristic tirades.

Calhoun's name recalls nullification. When this heresy was at its most rampant stage, the Northern Senators depended largely upon John Holmes of Maine as champion of their side of the chamber, on account of his ready wit. John Tyler tried to badger him one day by asking what had become of that political firm once mentioned by Randolph as "James Madison, Felix Grundy, John Holmes, and the devil."

"The partnership," answered Mr. Holmes, promptly, has been legally dissolved. The senior member is dead; the second has gone into retirement; the third now addresses you; and the last has gone over to the nullifiers, and is electioneering among the honorable Senator's constituents."

Clay and Webster were not habitual humorists, but both had the gift of entertaining as well as enthralling their audiences. Clay ran most to illustrative anecdote. While he was in the House, a prominent politician deserted the Whig party in the hope of starting a general revolt. To his dismay, he found himself quite alone, and then bent all his energies to getting back into good standing. The incident reminded Clay of a story. Said he:

"A stage-coach took aboard a passenger who insisted upon riding with the driver, and who diligently drew upon the contents of a bottle carried in his greatcoat pocket. When his potations at last overcame him, he fell off. The coach stopped along enough for some charitable travelers to alight and pull the poor fellow out of the mud.

"Hal!" he exclaimed, as he looked down at his tattered garments, "we had quite a (hic) turnover, didn't we?"

"Oh, no," answered one of the rescuers, "there was no turnover. You only fell off."

"I say," he persisted, "there was a (hic) turnover, and I leave it to the company."

"Every one joined in assuring him that the coach had not upset.
"Well, he remarked ruefully, as he tried to climb back to his former perch, 'if I'd known that (hic) I wouldn't have got off!'"
On a certain afternoon the Senate clock got a fit of striking in the midst of one of Webster's most effective speeches. After it had struck fourteen or fifteen, Webster held up one finger. "Mr. President," said he, "the clock is out of order. I have the floor."

Chicago athletes won 10 out of the 14 events including the 50-yards, 880-yards, 50-yard hurdle, 440-yards, running high jump, mile run, one mile relay, shot put and pole vault.

Corbett and Hanlon Draw.

"Young" Corbett and Eddie Hanlon fought 20-rounds to a draw Thursday night in San Francisco, the decision of Referee Graney being considered eminently fair and impartial.

The fact that the champion could do no more than draw with Hanlon, with McGovern's hurricane victory over Maynard, on Wednesday, has caused the Terrible one's stock to go away above par if the two should meet again, as is altogether likely.

Miss Roosevelt at the Races.

New Orleans, Feb. 27.—The Crescent City Jockey club has hit upon a pretty idea as signaling the visit of Miss Alice Roosevelt and Admiral Schley to the race track on last Saturday, the banner day in the history of winter racing at this city. The two front boxes in that section of the grand stand reserved for the exclusive new Louisiana Jockey club membership, occupied by the President's daughter and the distinguished naval officer, are to be remodeled and set off in a fine decorative scheme. In years to come the "Roosevelt" and the "Schley" boxes will be set apart for the use of notable personages who honor the fair grounds with their presence.

Ed Corrigan, owner of l'Eclaire, the horse which attracted the only wager ever put down by Miss Roosevelt on a horse race, has sent the horseshoe plate which became loosened from the race animal's hoof as she was being led back to the paddock, to the young woman, as a memento of the occasion.

It is said Miss Roosevelt has become a convert to the exhilarating diversion of racing and that she will be seen in attendance on the opening day of the approaching spring meeting at Benning's, Washington, D. C.

THE PRESIDENT

Of the City Council, Wilkes-barre, Pa., Cured of Rheumatism.

Col. Wm. J. Harvey, a president of Wilkesbarre's city council, who will long be remembered for his great work for the city, was once a mere physical wreck, torn in every muscle and nerve from the frightful pains caused by rheumatism. He consulted the best physicians, went abroad, took mud baths, and almost every known treatment for the disease. A friend had had a very similar experience and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had cured him, so he recommended this great kidney medicine to Col. Harvey and he is to-day a well man, hale and hearty. He writes straight to the point: DR. DAVID KENNEDY, Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was permanently cured of rheumatism by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Rheumatism is but another name for uric acid poisoning which is caused primarily by diseased kidneys. Cure your kidneys and the rheumatism disappears. For all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as sicknesses peculiar to women, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is unquestionably the greatest medicine known to the medical profession.

An Old Favorite

CASABIANCA

By Felicia Dorothea Hemans

HE boy stood on the burning deck
Whence all but him had fled:
The flame that lit the battle's wreck
Shone round him o'er the dead.

Yet beautiful and bright he stood,
As born to rule the storm;
A creature of heroic blood,
A proud, though child-like form.

The flames rolled on—he would not go
Without his father's word;
That father, faint in death below,
His voice no longer heard.

He called aloud—"Say, father, say,
If yet my task is done?"
He knew not that the chieftain lay
Unconscious of his son.

"Speak, father," once again he cried,
"If I may yet be gone!"
And but the booming shots replied,
And fast the flames rolled on.

Upon his brow he felt their breath,
And in his waving hair,
And looked from that lone post of death
In still, yet brave despair.

And shouted but once more aloud,
"My father! must I stay?"
While o'er him fast, through sail and shroud,
The wreathing fires made way.

They wrapt the ship in splendor wild,
They caught the flag on high,
And streamed above the gallant child,
Like banners in the sky.

There came a burst of thunder sound—
The boy—oh! where was he?
Ask of the winds that far around
With fragments strewn the sea!

With mast and helm, and pennon fair,
That well had borne their part—
But the noblest thing that perished there
Was that young, faithful heart!

SLAVERY

By William Cowper

FOR a lodge in some vast wilderness,
Some boundless continuity of shade,
Where rumor of oppression and deceit,
Of unsuccessful or successful war,
Might never reach me more! My ear is pained,
My soul is sick, with every day's report
Of wrong and outrage with which earth is filled.
There is no flesh in man's obdurate heart:
It does not feel for man; the natural bond
Of brotherhood is severed as the flax.
That falls asunder at the touch of fire.
He signs his fellow's guilt of a skin
Not colored like his own, and having power
To enforce the wrong, for such a worthy cause
Dooms and devotes him as his lawful prey.

Melen Keller's Island—Bookplates For Children.

[Special Correspondence.]
New York, Feb. 23.—There is a pretty story in connection with the autobiography of Helen Keller, the wonderful blind girl, shortly to be published in book form, telling about her own life from infancy to the present day. She always has shrank from the publicity which follows literary work, and it was with great difficulty that she was persuaded to take up the task of preparing her autobiography. She had, however, set her heart on owning an island in Halifax harbor for a summer home, and in a spirit of fun the editor of the Ladies' Home Journal offered to buy it for her or to provide the means to buy it.

When the work of writing appeared especially irksome, Miss Keller was reminded of her desire to become a landholder, and it spurred her on. Just before Christmas she completed the first chapter of her marvelous story, and on Christmas morning she received from her publishers a check for a good round sum. Her delight may be imagined, for this was the first money of any account which she had ever earned. "It is a fairy tale come true," she said. Whether she buys the island or not is another matter.

The youngsters of today are certainly becoming sophisticated. Children's bookplates is the newest development of this state. When the grownups of today were girls and boys, they were glad enough, many of them, to have books to read. The child of today has his own special library, in which the books, like those in the big library, must be marked with bookplates.

All lovers of books take delight in the fashion of marking their volumes with an individual design, and when the book owner can devise his or her own bookplate its value is greatly increased. What clever work the girls and boys of the land can do along this comparatively new and novel line is shown by the bookplates published in the February St. Nicholas, the prize winners in a bookplate design contest announced in November. The design here shown, by courtesy of the Century company, is one of the best three out of over fifty designs sent in to the St. Nicholas office by girls and boys from abroad as well as from all over America. Clarence Tritt, who designed it, is seventeen years old and lives in Los Angeles, Cal. This offers a suggestion for pleasant and profitable work for other girls and boys.

News comes from England that a massive and costly monument to mark the last resting place of Bret Harte has just been erected in Friarbury churchyard, Surrey. His grave is in the northeastern part of the churchyard, and around it have been planted a number of young fir trees.

The monument consists of a massive slab of white granite, weighing two and a half tons, on which is placed a block of Aberdeen granite sloping upward in the form of a cross. Simply itself is the inscription, "Bret Harte, Aug. 25, 1857; May 5, 1902; Death Shall Reap No Braver Harvest." A movement has been started in London to erect a memorial to the author in the metropolis, and from the rate that subscriptions are coming in it will not be very long before a sufficient sum is raised.

Ellen Glasgow, who is spending the winter in New York, says that she, in a roundabout way, owes the publication of her first published novel to Harold Frederic. She had already brought one novel in manuscript to New York and failed to place it. She went home, wrote another book and brought it here. History repeated itself. Publishers were stony hearted. At last in sheer despair she sent the manuscript anonymously to a well known firm. It was accepted, because the reader into whose hands it fell was sure that he had a book by Harold Frederic and that the firm couldn't afford to mist it. This was the beginning of the very successful career of the author of "The Voice of the People."

Mrs. Humphry Ward has had an enviable experience in life in the respect of a continual domestic association with brilliant men. She is a daughter of Thomas Arnold, editor and author; a granddaughter of the famous Sir Arnold of Rugby; and a niece of Matthew Arnold. Her husband, Thomas Humphry Ward, is an Oxford man, best known perhaps for his edition of the English Poets.

St. Louis Millionaire to Explore the Blue Nile

[Special Correspondence.]

St. Louis, Feb. 21.—St. Louis people are particularly interested in the cable dispatches from England announcing that an expedition to explore the source of the Blue Nile river in remote north-east Africa will start from Abyssinia before the end of next month, and that the leader of the expedition is already en route to the country of Menelek. This leader is Mr. William Northrup McMillan, a prominent young St. Louis man, a millionaire who has long been known as a devotee of jungle hunting, and is not unknown to fame as an explorer.

Mr. McMillan will take into Africa one of the largest expeditions of recent years. Like Stanley, he will carry steel boats in sections, and when he reaches the headwaters of the unexplored Blue Nile he will launch these boats and descend the river. A hundred camels will be required to carry his equipment, and his caravan will be a quarter of a mile in length.

The expedition was made possible owing to the fact that the "American," who is only thirty years of age, is a personal friend of the Abyssinian monarch. When Ras Makonnen, the noted savage warrior, attended King Edward's coronation as the representative of Menelek, he bore with him an invitation to Mr. McMillan to visit Abyssinia as Menelek's guest, and as an earnest of good faith decorated the St. Louisian with a gold medal that will insure him protection while he is in the Ethiopian realm.

When the British government learned that Mr. McMillan had decided not only to accept Menelek's invitation, but to utilize the opportunity to explore the country whence came the queen of Sheba and where King Solomon's mines were located, they immediately offered to have a gunboat awaiting him at the juncture of the Blue and White Niles. Their interest in the matter was explained by the fact that should the Blue Nile be found navigable from its source to the White Nile boats will be put on it to carry British goods into Abyssinia, which is a British protectorate. Mr. McMillan, who is bearing the whole expense of the expedition, promptly accepted the British offer, as the gunboat will be very useful should danger arise or provisions run short.

This will not be Mr. McMillan's first visit to Abyssinia. When he was twenty years old, he was afflicted with a bronchial trouble and was sent by his father to New Mexico, where he spent a couple of years on a ranch, living the life of a cowboy. This resulted in his developing a taste for adventure, sport and an out of door existence.

WILLIAM NORTHRUP McMILLAN.

After his father's death the idea of spending much of his time hunting big game took possession of him, and, with a view to carrying this out, he made a trip to Egypt in November of 1901. There he gathered a caravan, made an excursion into the desert and then decided to hunt lions in Abyssinia. He returned to Port Said and sailed down the Mediterranean to Jibuti, where there are many natives who make a business of tracking large game and acting as carriers for jungle expeditions. Forming a party of fifty of these men, he started for Menelek's country. The hunt was very successful, Mr. McMillan bagging, in addition to many lesser wild animals, three magnificent specimens of the king of the jungle.

The present journey will first take the venturesome young millionaire southwest in Abyssinia for rhinoceros hunting. Then he will visit Menelek at his capital, Adisa Beba. Menelek, although one of the most remote of titled rulers, is up to date in many ways, and Mr. McMillan will include in his baggage a silk hat and an evening suit, for he has been informed that Menelek will be greatly offended should he appear before him in anything but full dress.

From Adisa Beba the young explorer will start on his task of exploring the famous river and will be accompanied by Colonel John L. Harrington, an Englishman; Isidor Morse, a Bostonian, and possibly another St. Louisian.

He is well equipped physically for the work he has undertaken, standing 6 feet 2 inches in his stocking feet and weighing 270 pounds. He is the only child of the late William McMillan, one of the founders of the American Can and Foundry company.
